The Invisible Spot

Did you know that there is a spot that you can never see, no matter how hard you look? It's called your "blind spot," and it happens because of the way your eye is built. Try this game to find your blind spot.

Hold this page about two feet away from your face. Close your right eye and look at the + sign with your left eye. Now move the page closer to your face until the dot disappears. That's where your blind spot is!

To find out why you have a blind spot, check out the "What's In Your Eye" Activity Page.
